

Lathrop GPM Boston Office to Relocate to the 28th Floor of 28 State Street

April 15, 2024

The new 8,900-square-foot office space will adopt the hybrid office design of the firm's other offices.

BOSTON (April 15, 2024) — Lathrop GPM LLP is pleased to share that the firm's Boston office will be moving to the 28th Floor of 28 State Street. The move is targeted for this fall. The new 8,900-square-foot office space will adopt the firm's hybrid layout of open seating and private, assigned workspaces that increase collaboration and allow the firm to support its clients more efficiently, which have been adopted in the firm's Chicago, Denver, Minneapolis and St. Louis offices to date.

"Our new space will better meet the needs of our team members and clients, allowing us to be more flexible in the future as our office continues to expand," said Brian Trinque, partner in charge of the firm's Boston office. "We are looking forward to our move into this magnificent new space."

Since 2011, Lathrop GPM has had a strong presence in Boston with expansive experience protecting the intellectual property rights of national and international biotech and pharmaceutical firms. The Boston office's original founding partners include Giulio DeConti, Brian Trinque and James Velema who worked together for nearly a decade at a former Boston IP boutique. The Boston team has grown from an initial five-person group to more than 30 people, including attorneys, technical specialists, patent agents and other professionals. The new office design will position the office for further growth in the Boston market.

Chief Operating Officer Courtney Landon added, "Our real estate needs have been evolving for years, and we will continue to engage closely with our lawyers and administrative professionals to develop offices that increase efficiency and teamwork and reinforce our commitment to the firm's culture of collaboration, client value and service. We are excited to continue bringing their ideas to life with this spectacular space that supports our clients' and team members' needs."

Located in the heart of Boston's Financial District, the 40-story office tower features recently updated floorplans and amenities including a tenant-only conference center, 120-space underground parking, Hubway Bike Sharing Station, fitness center, Boston News Cafe Food Service, Citizens Bank branch and bike storage. It is within walking distance of all four MBTA subway lines, Faneuil Hall, Quincy Market and more than 100 eateries, with convenient access to I-93 and Mass Pike, Logan Airport and Storrow Drive.

Attorneys in Lathrop GPM's Boston office have been dedicated to life sciences IP while adding practitioners in both mechanical and electrical engineering over the years. With a broad spectrum of clients ranging from universities and hospitals to investment entities, startups, serial entrepreneurs, and multinational pharmaceutical companies, Lathrop GPM's Boston patent prosecution team collaborates with clients to build strong patent portfolios that protect the commercialization of biological, pharmaceutical, chemical and consumer products and related technologies. As the team likes to say, "Patents are in our DNA."
