

For Eighth Consecutive Year, Gray Plant Mooty Named One of Minnesota's "Best Places to Work"

July 16, 2010

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (July 16, 2010) — For the eighth consecutive year, the Minneapolis-based law firm of Gray Plant Mooty has been named one of Minnesota's "Best Places to Work" by the Minneapolis/St. Paul Business Journal. No other Minnesota law firm can claim such a milestone.

Companies earn the "Best Places to Work" award based on how employees respond to the Business Journal's online survey, which addresses issues such as work environment, opportunities for personal growth, embracing new ideas, and day-to-day operations. To be considered, companies must have an office with 10 or more employees in the 13-county Twin Cities metro area, or be a Minnesota-based company with at least 1,000 employees anywhere in the state. Companies also must meet an employee survey participation requirement.

Just 55 companies were named "Best Places to Work" by the Business Journal this year. These companies will be honored at an awards luncheon at the Minneapolis Hilton on August 26 and profiled in a special supplement to the Business Journal's August 27 issue.
